Did you know that 3 out of every 4 clients Accion serves are women? Their reasons for applying for a savings account or seeking a microloan are no different than mine, or yours. They have a talent and passion. They enjoy their work. They aspire to build something bigger than themselves. They want to provide for their families. With your support, more women who are excluded from formal economies can gain access to basic financial services.

In celebration of International Women’s Day, and in honor of the thousands of female clients our partners serve all over the world, will you donate $10 today?
We are reaching more and more people every day, but 2 billion underserved people still need our help. Give them the chance they deserve.

Thank you for your support,

Anja Shafer
